

POWER RESTORATION UPDATE – 1:00 PM, Nov. 1, 2011

JCP&L reports 3,000 people are working in various capacities on power restoration. An additional 140 linemen are enroute from Indiana. As of 4:00 PM yesterday there were 235,000 customers without power.

As of 9:00 AM this morning JCP&L reports 350 line crews are working to restore power. This is a greater number than they had in the aftermath of Hurricane Irene.

If your power is out, you must call 1 888-544-4877 to report your outage. You may get an automated attendant. You will be asked several questions. By calling this number, JCP&L will know that you have no power. If you do not report your outage, it is possible that service could be restored in your area and you might still be without power due to a problem associated with your individual service. When service is restored, you will get call verifying that service has been restored.

Do not try to touch or move tree limbs that are resting on wires. You can get seriously injured.

JCP&L twitter account in JCP_L

Restoration progress can be followed there.